

"Like the Cheeseballs for Squirrels program?" Tommy retorted visibly frustrated.

"Was that in that bill?" Dontreid asked as all the radicals looked around at each other. The radicals huddled up and put on their thinking caps trying to figure out which bill was what.

"I thought that was snuck in the Popcorn Bill."

"No, no, we cut military funding in the Popcorn Bill."

"Oh yeah! I remember! We put the Cheeseballs for Squirrels program in the Education Bill along with the funding for a study on how talk radio affects acne in fish!"

"No no! We snuck that funding in the Energy Bill along with the funding for a study on how the number of holes in Swiss cheese affects whether girls aged 7-10 with curly hair use black or blue pens while doodling, remember?"

